

/texts

www.eveningnews24.co.uk/forums
Please include your full postal address EN followed by a space, then your your usual mobile operator costs.

The big debate:
Making music
Feel like stretching those vocal chords? A new choir is looking for male voices.
Write, email, text or visit www.eveningnews24.co.uk/forums
You tell us...

The big debate

Come and join us, Kim!

I was interested to see the feature in the Evening News (July 27) about Kim Rogers (left), the singing baker from Lenwade, who wishes to get involved in the formation of a male voice choir. That led me to believe that not only he, but maybe others, are unaware of the existence of the new Phoenix Male Voice Choir.

Last August, your sister-publication Let's Talk kindly printed a letter from me outlining our attempts to get a new male voice choir started, following the end of the Millennium Choir.

Your readers may be interested to know that we did eventually find a place to rehearse (Mile Cross Methodist Church, Thursday evenings) and a very enthusiastic musical director, Sarah Sheldrake, has risen to the challenge of putting us through our paces. We have also obtained the services of a very talented accompanist, Neil Ricketts.

In tune: Phoenix Male Voice Choir meets again on September 2.

On our first evening, a committee was formed and people readily volunteered to play their part. Weekly rehearsals only started in February and our inaugural concert, which was well attended, was held on July 7. We are taking a summer break now but will start rehearsals again on September 2 in readiness for a Christmas concert.

If any of your (male) readers are thinking of doing something different with their leisure time they would be most welcome to join us. A spirit of camaraderie is already in place and we are looking forward to building on a successful beginning.

James Clayton
Woodland Drive,
Old Catton, Norwich.